The Danish System

The Danish System, requires that each competitor be compared to a predetermined standard of excellence and awarded a blue, red, or white ribbon based on those standards. In the Danish System, exhibitors within a class are never compared to one another as they are judged under the standard ranking system. Since participants are judged against a set of criteria on an individual basis, not against other participants, it is possible for each participant in a class to earn a blue ribbon. A "First Blue" ribbon is awarded to the best of the blue ribbon winners. Blue Ribbon - Outstanding or Excellent Work. The exhibitor has met and/or exceeded basic requirements of the class. One or two minor faults, if immediately corrected, do not eliminate an exhibitor from the blue ribbon category. Red Ribbon - Good Work. An exhibitor completed the required work but with an accumulation of faults; missed leads, broken gaits, excessive speed, lack of coordination, poor equitation, poor grooming, or dirty or poor fitting tack. White Ribbon - Needs Improvement. An exhibitor completed the class but with some major faults or broken patterns; inability to execute and maintain required gait or performing in wrong lead without attempting to correct it.
